

NCCHC PRESENTER GUIDELINES

Your presentation for the National Commission on Correctional Health Care is one of the most important means of exchanging information among correctional health care professionals. We hope these guidelines make your presentation as effective as possible.

Preparing Your Talk

The time allotment for each talk is usually 1 hour. Please do not go over your allotted time since doing so would disrupt the program schedule. You should plan your talk to allow 10 minutes for questions. If you have special needs for your presentation that have not already been accounted for, contact Angie Silberhorn, CMP, Director of Education & Meetings, in advance.

Plan to speak slowly and clearly so that everyone can understand you, especially if you discuss a topic not covered in your visual presentation materials. As a rough guideline, you should allow for approximately 2-3 minutes per slide that you use for your talk. Therefore, we recommend that you plan for approximately 12-20 slides, maximum, for a 50-minute talk. An introductory slide should show the title of your presentation, your name with credentials, and your affiliation.

Because the session rooms can be much larger than typical conference rooms, use large, well-spaced type on your slides and allow space for the border around the image. The maximum number of lines on your slide should be 8-10 lines of type that is preferably 24 pt size or larger for most text and never smaller than 18 pt for any text. Also, keep in mind that the best colors for visibility are yellow text on royal blue, white text on royal blue, and black text on white.

Conference attendees are entitled to receive presentation materials for every session, so you must provide an electronic copy of your slides for publication in the Proceedings Manual. This must be sent to NCCHC 45 days before the conference. Otherwise, it is your responsibility to provide presentation handouts, typically 100 copies per session. A copy of the handout also should be provided to NCCHC.

On-Site at the Meeting

Arrive at your session room 10 minutes before the talk begins to discuss any special arrangements or problems with the session moderator. Please check the audiovisual equipment you will be using. If you plan to use an LCD projector you must bring your own laptop.

Before your talk, the moderator will introduce you, giving, at minimum, your name, professional affiliation and presentation title. If you would like additional information to be shared with the audience, please communicate that to your moderator.

Sessions are generally recorded, so please keep that in mind when delivering your presentation or engaging in dialogue with audience members. Always speak into your microphone, and when someone asks a question, please repeat it succinctly.

Remember, you typically will have a maximum of 50 minutes for your entire presentation plus 10 minutes for questions and answers. Your moderator will signal you when you have approximately 10 minutes remaining. Your moderator may interrupt you, if necessary, to allow adequate time for questions from the audience.
